KEYMACRO is a simple, powerful, universal, free and open-source password generator that can be used on all supported operating systems. The program is available as a standalone product for Windows, Mac and Linux, an online generator available at KEYMACRO.org. Keyword-based password generation is fast, convenient, easy to use and useful for both beginners and advanced users. KEYMACRO is an innovative and unique free software that produces strong passwords automatically from a pre-selected keyword combination. It supports both LRC and NCR password types (LRC stands for letters, numbers, case, symbols and numbers; NCR stands for numbers, case and symbols) and password length up to 128 characters. KEYMACRO uses the secure open-source Blowfish encryption algorithm, a cryptographic hash function and a one-way function. The Blowfish algorithm is selected for its high speed, secure encryption and safety. Keywords can be generated automatically or manually. Keywords can be based on a phrase, syllable, word or letter set. A number of password types are supported and users can chose between LRC, NCR and scrambled passwords. Keywords can be selected according to various criteria, including: - A choice of a password type (LRC, NCR, scrambled) - A number of characters in the generated password - A choice of a password length (minimum and maximum) - A keyword length (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight (a number of generated keywords from the keyword set) - A keyword weight based on a number of characters (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a word list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a letter list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a number of words (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a phrase (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a syllable list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a phrase list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a word list list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a number of words list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a phrase list list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a syllable list list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a word list list (minimum and maximum) - A keyword weight based on a letter list 2edc1e01e8
