Security is an important aspect of everyday life, but can also pose a serious threat to you and your loved ones. Thus, you need to monitor your home and secure your family in the best possible way, which is why dedicated security tools, like Central Monitoring System, can help. However, while this application is a helpful security solution, it is crucial to note that it can be installed only on computers with an operating system and a certain version of the.NET Framework, which is why you need to check if they are compatible with your system before you can decide to install it. You can get these three essentials for free using the included trial version of the tool, thus giving you an opportunity to check if it is compatible with your machine. The trial version of the program provides you with basic functionality, such as recording, playback and scheduling of alarm events, but you cannot access the premium features, which require a valid subscription. However, you have the option to try the program for free, so you can try it out, and decide whether it is worth your time to pay for the subscription or not. Therefore, if you do decide to purchase the subscription, you can download Central Monitoring System directly from the website, which saves you from needing to search for an additional download site. However, you can click the Download button directly on the official website. WOW! The program enables you to monitor the video of many live sources, such as your computers and laptops, thus providing you with a convenient and efficient way to ensure that your belongings are not stolen and your family is safe. As you can see, the application is a powerful tool that can help you get the best out of your security system. Key features: Monitor many live sources simultaneously Many times, you need to ensure that your belongings are safe and your family is not in danger, but this can prove to be difficult and time consuming if you are constantly monitoring the video of one specific location. Therefore, if you want to be sure that you are always safe, you need to monitor all the areas of your home, and Central Monitoring System can help. In the premium version, the application can monitor up to ten video sources at once, thus giving you access to more features than the free version. You can still monitor a single source at a time, but it requires you to click the respective button, and provide the video source's IP address and port. Manage security events As you may know, security threats are always an issue
